Corrigendum

In the news release of ‘Response to the remarks by Ms Christine Schraner Burgener Special Envoy of the UN Secretary-General for Myanmar made at the UN Security Council session on 31 March 2021’ appeared on page 11 of the 5 April 2021 issue of The Global New Light of Myanmar Daily Newspaper.

PLEASE read, “Ms Burgener condemned the military leadership ignoring the well-functioning of State administrative mechanism which is the result of the systematic implementation on executive duties by the State Administration Council for the State peace and stability.” instead of the sub-paragraphs (f) and (g) of Paragraph 3.

Request to Public

- 1. Democracy practices have granted the public freedom of speech, practices and living. Such freedoms should not harm others. Diverse views of others should be understood, but should not be disturbed or harassed. However, with the reason for human rights, some persons are now under pressure, harassed and threatened in breaching the laws. Undisciplined acts could lead to tarnishing the image of democracy.
- 2. For preventing destructive actions against the stability of the State, the safety of the public and the rule of law, it is also required to take proper actions in line with the law.
- 3. All the people who favour justice, freedom, equality and safety are requested to oppose breaching the laws and prevent such actions for the benefit of country and people.

Voting fraud was terrible

IN holding the 2020 election, as it was the time of breaking out of Covid-19, votes were cast under the social distancing. Votes were cast by 71 per cent. Large numbers of difference were found in the inspection of the voting result, and such findings were released. Requests were made for addressing the differences in voting results many times. There were more than 50,000 vote-riggings in Myeik Township and over 30,000 in Kyunsu Township, in addition to more than 10 million across the nation. Voting fraud was terrible. Such an event was similar to the act of illegally sitting the examination to take the highest marks. As attempts were made to form the new government by holding the third Hluttaw in addition to absence of addressing the errors on voting list, the Tatmadaw assumed the State responsibilities in accord with Sections 417 and 418 of the Constitution starting from 1 February 2021 and formed the State Administration Council under Section 419. The council was constituted with military and civilian persons in balance, and civilians were appointed as chairmen of region and state administration councils. In fact, the Tatmadaw is taking responsibilities in a short period to ensure genuine democracy and disciplined and firm democracy.

Ensure smooth trade and commodity flow

SMOOTH and swift flow of trade and commodity plays a key role in booming State economy and improving people's socio-economy. Smooth flow of trade depends on the proper process of trade and monetary circulation in a correct manner.

Riots in urban and rural areas are hindrances to trade and monetary circulation. Hence, local authorities encourage the banks to resume services and take security measures for customers of the banks to be free from disturbances.

That is why all need to strive for a booming State economy, and socio-economy in unison as departments concerned negotiate a smooth and swift flow of trade and commodities.

rice, beans and sesame to Bangladesh.

Jetties of ports and shipping lines need to collect fees for delay in taking out and entrusting the containers at ports in line with the notifications issued by Myanma Port Authority.

Merchants can seek assistance from departments concerned in taking out piles of containers from the wharves. Containers on the auction list will be removed from the wharves as quickly as possible. Anyone can browse the website of MPA for arrivals of cargo vessels on timetables. Regular operations of banks can help improve the payment process and import of vehicles by containers.

That is why all need to strive for a booming State economy, and socio-economy in unison as departments concerned negotiate a smooth and swift flow of trade and commodities.

The maritime trade process at home and abroad is possibly reliable for Myanmar because of the lack of hindrances, contributing to the resurgence of trade and commodity flow. Currently, merchants and port service providers, those from shipping lines and jetties, hold negotiations to seek proper solutions for port issues.

While striving for regularly levying duties and customs clearance for foreign trade, the Customs Department will make preparations for regular trade and commodity flow during long holidays in the coming long Thingyan festival. Thus, merchants and service providers may negotiate with port authorities for work processes.

Merchants and service providers should initiate sharing of information for a smooth process with authorities concerned. Any businesspersons can seek help from relevant authorities at any time.

Merchants wish to overcome challenges on the delay of drawing containers from ports and timetables for arrivals of vessels to export goods in time. At present, preparations are being made to export MYANMAR is a Nation with a magnification of historical traditions. We, the National people, have been living unity and oneness, setting up an independent sovereign State and standing tall with pride.

Due to colonial intrusion, the Nation lost its sovereign power in 1885. The National people launched anti-colonialist struggles and National liberation struggles, with unity in strength, sacrificing lives. Hence, the Nation became an independent sovereign State again on 4 January 1948.

In order to gain independence speedily, the Constitution was hastily drafted, and it was adopted by the Constituent Assembly on 24 September 1947. After attaining independence, the Parliamentary system was practised in the State in accord with the Constitution of the Union of Myanmar.

However, as a democratic system could not be effectively materialized, the new Constitution of the Socialist Republic of the Union of Myanmar was drafted based on the single-party system, and after holding a National Referendum, a socialist democratic State was set up in 1974. The Constitution came to an end because the general situation occurred in 1988.

Later, due to public aspirations, the Tatmadaw, as the State Peace and Development Council, made efforts to adopt a multiparty democratic system and market economy according to the National situation.

As an enduring Constitution that guarantees extended-term benefits has become essential for the future Nation, the State Peace and Development Council convened the National Convention in 1993.

Persons who are well-experienced in the various aspects of politics, security, administration, economics, social and the law, and National races representatives of all townships in the Nation took part in the National Convention.

Despite many difficulties and disturbances encountered by the National Convention, it was unwaveringly reconvened in 2004 according to the seven-stop Roadmap adopted in 2003. As the National Convention was able to adopt the Basic Principles and Detailed Basic Principles for formulating a Constitution, it successfully concluded in September 2007.

The Commission for Holding the Referendum of the Union of Myanmar, regarding the ratification of draft Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar, reported that the National Referendums to seek approval of the people were held on 10 and 24 May 2008 successfully, 98.12 per cent of 27,288,827 eligible voters all over the country cast votes. Of them, 92.48 per cent supported the Republic of Myanmar's draft Constitution in accordance with the law. Hence, it is hereby announced that the State Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar has been ratified and promulgated by the Nation Referendum.

Daily demonstrations were in a peaceful atmosphere in the earlier period. However, the protests turned to riots and then to anarchic mobs who committed vandalism in some major cities and towns after 9 February. The State Administration Council talked about the issues in the softest ways without the declaration of the martial law stipulated in Section 413 of the Constitution during the emergency period as declared in accord with section 417 of the Constitution if necessary and restriction of the fundamental rights of the citizens under section 420 of the Constitution.

In fact, in a democratic society, "Democracy is not Mobocracy always against Anarchism and Terrorism." The rule of law is a fundamental constitutional principle in a democratic society. It asserts the law's supremacy as an instrument that governs all citizens, and Nobody is above the law. The political parties must strive for the prevalence of law and peace and tranquillity in the State. They must love and value truth and be able to oppose and fight every act of terrorism, insult and interference.

In our country, under the Constitution of the Republic of the Union of Myanmar (2008), there were held on twice general elections (first general election, 2010 and second general election, 2015) successfully without a political problem.

There were more than 39.2 million eligible voters at the general election held on 8 November 2020. However, the initial checks showed that the margin of error exceeds 10.4 million. Hence, the political parties, the candidates, and the Tatmadaw demanded the UEC, the Hluttaw, and the government to solve the matter according to the law. Though complaints were sent to the National Defence and Security Council for two times, they were ignored, and attempts were even made to summon the first regular session of the third Hluttaw to form a new government.

Thus, three organs of the State power have been exercised in accord with section 417 and 418 of the Constitution since 1 February 2021. The State Administration Council was set up in accordance with Section 419 of the Constitution.

Daily demonstrations were in a peaceful atmosphere in the earlier period. However, the protests turned to riots and then to anarchic mobs who committed vandalism in some major cities and towns after 9 February. The State Administration Council talked about the issues in the softest ways without the declaration of the martial law stipulated in Section 413 of the Constitution during the emergency period as declared in accord with section 417 of the Constitution if necessary and restriction of the fundamental rights of the citizens under section 420 of the Constitution.

On 9 February, mobs tried to block the ferries of civil servants who did not take part in CDM. Besides, mobs blocked the rail tracks with concrete blocks and old rails to halt public transport.

The crowds of riotous protesters (CDM-Civil Disobedience Movement) have blocked security forces and violently attacked with sticks, knives, iron hooks, harpoons and nuts. NLD followers and stooges rely on foreign forces in various ways and means imposed pressure, threats, and coercion to service personnel and people to participate in the CDM and public movements. Crowds of NLD followers and stooges committed pressures, threats and public punishment with acts of losing individual rights and human rights to discredit those who did not participate in the CDM and public movements.

Then, the crowds of rioters committed violent acts, confronted security forces and threatened their lives by committing violence with cudgels, knives, arrow slingshots, iron-fist rings, baseball bats and hand-made weapons in a disorderly and anarchist manner, destroying some houses and shops of innocent people, state-owned vehicles and traffic police booths and pouring boiling water from upper floors of apartment buildings on security forces. The security forces inevitably dispersed the crowds after warnings repeatedly by using riot-control weapons as per the rights to self-defence of the riot-control procedures under the law.

Despite Section 144 of the Criminal Procedure declaration in some cities for public peace and the rule of law, the State Administration Council watched peaceful protests patiently. It issued some warnings until 3 February. After 22 February, due to violent demonstrations that undermined public peace, threats, and hindrances to the State's administrative and management mechanism, gang violence that breached individual freedom, dignity, and human rights, destruction and confrontation, security forces issued warnings step by step following rules and regulations and dispersed violent crowds with the use of minimum force to minimize the injuries.

Some of the youths went to ethnic armed groups to attend the explosion course. Rioters who do not want stability, peace, and security have accelerated to confront security forces by inciting people to take to the roads, commit anarchic violence, and raid on police stations. Therefore, to effectively, the rule of law and community peace, the State Administration Council has transferred the executive and judicial power (Martial Law) to the Yangon Command to exercise the martial law in Hlinethaya Township and Shwepyitha Township of the Yangon Region under the Yangon Command under Article 419 of the Constitution.

In fact, in a democratic society, "Democracy is not Mobocracy always against Anarchism and Terrorism." The rule of law is a fundamental constitutional principle in a democratic society. It asserts the law's supremacy as an instrument that governs all citizens, and Nobody is above the law. The political parties must strive for the prevalence of law and peace and tranquillity in the State. They must love and value truth and be able to oppose and fight every act of terrorism, insult and interference. In conclusion, Democracy always depends on peace and stability, so we must together protect terrorism and anarchism according to the law.

Chilli growers from Mong Yawng earning regular income

Myanmar also exports fresh chilli to China and Thailand. But, the fresh chillies are mainly exported to Thailand through the Myawady border.

ACCORDING to the chilli growers, the chilli growers from Mong Yawng region in Shan State (East) are harvesting the chili and earning a regular income daily for their family.

“Our local farmers are growing the vegetables and crops and selling them in the market. We are also growing seasonal crops such as cucumber, pumpkin, tomato, watermelon, muskmelon and chilli. Now, the chillies are ripe enough. But it couldn’t earn us an attractive profit as it did in the early harvest season. We are then selling the chillies back in the market, said a chilli grower from Mong Yawng region.

The local people are growing various chilli species. The chillies are grown within an enclosed space. After 15 days, the chillies are transplanted to the farmlands, and it is needed to put the water into the farms every five days. After one month of transplanting into the fields, the chilis bloom and bear fruits.

Although the red chillies are priced at K5,000 per kilo in the Mong Yawng region in the harvest season, the price has dropped only to about K2,000 per kilo recently, according to the chilli growers.

Black gram price on downswing despite Indian purchase agreement

THE price of black gram (urad) is in the bear market trend regardless of the India purchase agreement.

The reduction of currency in circulation amid the closure of private banks and the political changes contributes to a price decline.

Black gram fetches K78,000-81,000 per three-basket bag in Mandalay market in the first week of April 2021, Win-Win depot from Mandalay reported.

India has notified the annual quota of black gram (400,000 tonnes) imports for its financial year 2021-2022, which will start on 1 April, traders said.

India will grant the licence to their companies. However, the exports of the black gram will take time during the meantime, said an official from Myanmar Pulses, Beans and Sesame Seeds Merchants Association.

At present, the domestic bean market is positively related to supply and demand law. The black gram price depends on the buyers and sellers. There is no official set price, the traders stressed.

Additionally, there is still stock left in India, so the price is likely to remain low. The growers are now encouraged to safely store the beans as the price is expected to rise only in September; a market observer shared his opinion.

The black bean was worth K967,500-11.57 million per tonne in early February 2021, Bayintnaung Wholesale Centre’s statistics showed. Bayintnaung wholesale centre, a primary market for exports via maritime trade, has been closed down since 11 February 2021.

Since early February, the local private banks have shut down, disrupting banking. Consequently, the export companies are buying less in the domestic market.

On 22 May 2020, India rapidly changed the import period of black bean (400,000 tonnes) to three months by August-end 2020 from the earlier set deadline of March 2021, prompting Myanmar’s bean body to call for an extension of the deadline, according to its official notice.

Although the bean body asked to extend the August-end deadline, India still has not responded to the request. Myanmar exported only 100,000 tonnes of black beans then, the association stated.

Nevertheless, India issued a notification on 1 October 2020 to purchase 150,000 tonnes of black beans instead, and the import deadline is March, 2021. The licence is equally granted for India’s companies.

At present, about 50,000 tonnes of black beans are stuck in the ports.

Since 2017, India has been setting import quota on beans, including black bean and pigeon peas. Therefore, the growers face difficulties to export their beans to the Indian market.

Myanmar has to export black bean and pigeon peas under a quota system and limit period. Consequently, there is no guarantee that we could get the prevailing market price this year. Following the uncertainty in black bean and pigeon peas markets, the association suggested, in October-end 2020, that the growers cultivate black-eyed bean more.—KK

Companies registered on MyCO exceed 1,700 in Q1: DICA

“THE number of companies registered on the online registry system, MyCO, reached over 1,700 in the first quarter of this year,” stated the statistics released by the Directorate of Investment and Company Administration (DICA).

The figures reached a fresh new peak of 2,059 in October 2019. Then, 1,615 new companies in November and 1,772 in December were recorded, data of the DICA showed.

the DICA.

Besides, all registered companies need to file annual returns (AR) on the MyCO registry system within two months of incorporation. At least once every year (not later than one month after the anniversary of the incorporation), according to Section 97 of Myanmar Companies Law 2017.

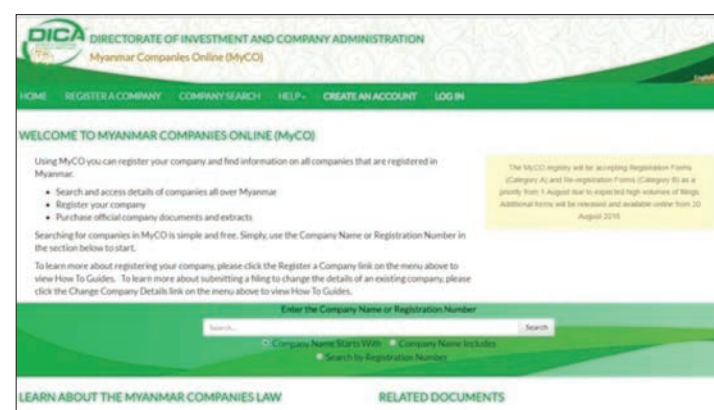

According to Section 266 (A) of the Myanmar Companies Law 2017, public companies must simultaneously submit annual returns and financial statements (G-5).

All overseas corporations must submit ARs in the prescribed format on MyCO within 28 days of the financial year ending, as per Section 53 (A-1) of the Myanmar Companies Law 2017.

As per DICA’s report, more than 16,000 companies were suspended as of September-end for failing to submit AR forms within the due date.

Newly established companies are required to submit ARs within two months of incorporation or face a fine of K100,000 for filing late returns.

The DICA has notified that any company which fails to submit its AR within 13 months will be notified of its suspension (I-9A). If it fails to submit the AR within 28 days of receiving the notice, the system will show the company’s status as suspended. Companies can restore their status only after shelling out a fine of K50,000 for the AR fee, K100,000 for the restoration of the company on the register, and K100,000 for late filing of documents. If a company fails to restore its status within six months of suspension, the registrar will strike its name off the register, according to the DICA notice.— NN/GNLM

It exploded near Super Custom vehicle stationed in front of the house. The lower part of the vehicle front door on the right side was damaged in the blast. No human and animal were injured in the incident.

Two violent attackers threw a homemade firebomb made of PVC pipe at Myanma Economic Bank on Thumingala Road in Zawana Ward of Thingangyun Township at about 12:55 pm on 4 April. The blast in front of the bank did not cause any injuries.

At about 7:50 pm on 4 April, a fire broke out at the ward administration office in Nyaungphyu Sakhan Ward in Taunggyi. # India tightens screws as Covid-19 infections hit new record INDIA'S worst-hit state ramped up its coronavirus restrictions as nationwide the daily infections exceeded 100,000 for the first time on Monday.

The United States is the only nation that has regularly registered so many cases in one day. Brazil recorded triple digits once in March.

In India, hopes at the start of the year that the outbreak may be subsiding in the vast nation of 1.3 billion people have been dashed in recent weeks as a fresh wave pushed the national total to 12.5 million infections and 165,000 deaths.

Maharashtra, the worst-hit state and home to India's financial and entertainment capital Mumbai, recorded nearly 60,000 cases in the last 24 hours.

Struggling state authorities on Sunday tightened the evening curfew to allow only people involved in essential services out of their homes from 8:00 pm to 7:00 am.

The region of 110 million people will also see weekend lockdowns, with gatherings of over four people banned and places of worship and restaurants shut.

In Mumbai over the weekend, one of Bollywood's biggest stars, Akshay Kumar, became the latest celebrity to test positive.

On Monday, shooting of the religious epic "Ram Setu" that Kumar was making was halted after 45 crew members also tested positive.

"How long shooting remains halted depends on Akshay Kumar's recovery. We can replace all our crew members, but we cannot replace the star of the film," Ashok Dubey from the Federation of Western India Cine Employees told AFP.

Kumar, 53, tweeted meanwhile that he had been hospitalized "as a precautionary measure under medical advice".

lockdown after a shutdown in March 2020 caused widespread human and economic misery.

Modi on Sunday chaired a high-level meeting and a statement afterwards announced an awareness campaign from April 6-14 "with emphasis on 100-percent mask usage, personal hygiene and sanitation at public places/workplaces and health facilities."

In the capital New Delhi, the chief minister has ruled out a new lockdown despite the surge in cases. Police say they are issuing more fines to people not wearing masks.

"The fear of Covid-19 has gone away. Most people don't wear masks properly, including many of my passengers," auto-rickshaw driver Surjit Singh, 68, told AFP.—AFP ■

S. Korea's LG Electronics to end mobile phone production

SOUTH Korean technology company LG Electronics Inc. said Monday it will exit its unprofitable mobile phone business in the face of stiff competition from rivals like Samsung

Electronics Co.

"LG Electronics has been closely reviewing the direction of its mobile business, and at a board meeting on April 5 it decided to exit the mobile business by July 31," the company said in a statement, adding that it plans to focus on its core business to prepare for the future.

LG Electronics said in January it would consider "all possibilities" for the future of its mobile phone division. The company first started making mobile phones in 1995.

LG Electronics was once the world's third-largest mobile phone maker in terms of market share. But its mobile business has been in the red since the second quarter of 2015, with its accumulated operating losses reaching 5 trillion won ($4.4 billion) last year, according to Yonhap News Agency.

Search for survivors called off as Bangladesh ferry toll rises to 28

THE search for survivors from a ferry disaster in Bangladesh was called off on Monday, officials said, with the death toll rising to 28 when rescuers pulled the vessel from the water and found bodies inside.

The one-and-a-half storey ferry was lifted from the heavily polluted Shitalakshya River in the central district of Narayanganj on Monday, some 18 hours after it sank following a collision with a bigger cargo vessel on Sunday.

"We have found 23 bodies today... Five bodies were found Sunday night," local official Mustain Billah told AFP.

Six children were among the dead, he added.

The vessel, named Sabit Al Hasan, sank less than an hour after it had departed Narayanganj, 20 kilometres (12 miles) from the capital Dhaka, officials told AFP.

A local police inspector said the ferry was packed with passengers after the government confirmed it would impose a seven-day lockdown across the country to combat the recent rise in coronavirus cases.

Billah said the ship was carrying at least 46 people when it left.

"Some 20 people swam to safety after the vessel sank," he told AFP.

He said search operations, which were led by fire brigade divers and other rescuers, were called off Monday evening as authorities believed no one else was missing.

Hundreds of onlookers and relatives of the missing had watched from the shore, but many have since left, he said.

"I don't think anyone is missing as most of the relatives have left the riverbanks," Billah said, adding that authorities had ordered a probe into the accident.

Local police chief Dipak Saha said rescue efforts on Sunday had been hampered for hours by a powerful storm that hit after the accident.—AFP ■

UK to announce new international travel rules

Britain's Chief Medical Officer for England Chris Whitty (L), Britain's Prime Minister Boris Johnson (C) and Britain's Chief Scientific Adviser Patrick Vallance (R) give an update on the coronavirus Covid-19 pandemic during a virtual press conference inside the new Downing Street Briefing Room in central London on March 29, 2021. England entered the second phase of its lockdown easing on Monday thanks to a successful vaccination drive, but the government is urging vigilance as another wave of coronavirus sweeps Europe. PHOTO: AFP

BRITAIN will on Monday set out plans to restart international travel, using a "traffic-light" system as the country cautiously emerges from lockdown.

The UK has set a tentative date of May 17 to relaunch foreign travel, currently banned except for a handful of permitted reasons. This has created massive pent-up demand for summer holidays abroad.

Travel destinations will be ranked green, amber or red according to virus risk, Downing Street said late Saturday, with the government to provide more details on Monday.

"We are doing everything we can to enable the reopening of our country... as safely as possible," Prime Minister Boris Johnson said.

The government said the new system "will help ensure the UK's vaccine progress isn't jeopardised and provide clear guidance for travellers".

People heading to low-risk "green" countries will simply take a virus test before and after they travel, the government said.

But those going to amber or red countries will have to self-isolate or quarantine afterwards.

Health minister Edward Argar said as cases surge on the European continent, Britain would have to be "very careful" as it considered further restrictions.

"One of the things we don't want to see — and just as the vaccination programme is working so well — is getting new variants or risking new variants getting imported into this country," he said.

Currently people arriving in the UK from abroad are required to self-isolate for 10 days.

British nationals who arrive from a banned "red list" of high-risk countries face costly quarantine in government-approved hotels.

The government urged people not to book summer holidays, saying it was "too early to predict" which would be the green-lighted countries.

The government has announced it will allow a number of people to attend public events such as football matches from this month in trials of a virus certification system.

'Virus passports'?

But it has not made clear whether it will issue "virus passports" for international travel, an idea backed by many tourism-dependent countries and airlines but opposed by more than 70 UK MPs.

Argar said the government was still considering measures like Israel's green passes, which allow Covid-vaccinated people access to hotels, bars and other services. —AFP ■

Ethiopian Airlines pilot lands at wrong Zambia airport

AN Ethiopian Airlines cargo plane flying into Zambia accidentally landed at an airport that is still under construction, a government official said Monday. The plane hit the tarmac on Sunday at the uncompleted airport in Zambia's northern Copperbelt province, which is currently served by the Simon Mwansa Kapwepwe International Airport around 15 kilometres (nine miles) away.

The transport ministry's permanent secretary Misheck Lungu said the pilot had landed at the future Copperbelt International Airport "by error". —AFP ■

Encrypted messages lead to 28 tonnes of cocaine in Belgium

THE Belgian customs service has uncovered tonnes of cocaine worth nearly $1.4 billion in Antwerp after police decrypted communications sent by criminal gangs, officials said Monday. Federal police ran a two-year inquiry into organized crime which involved 500 million messages sent on Sky ECC devices sold by Canada-based firm Sky Global, the Antwerp prosecutor's office said in a statement.

A total of 27.64 tonnes of cocaine has been seized at the port of Antwerp since February 20, including 11 tonnes found in a container overnight Friday-Saturday. —AFP ■

Israel's Netanyahu on trial as coalition talks ramp up

ISRAEL'S legal and political dramas converged Monday as Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu faced court in his corruption trial while his bid to form a government after another inconclusive election reached a critical phase.

The 71-year-old veteran premier — who last month contested his fourth election in less than two years — arrived at the Jerusalem courthouse where he was met by supporters but also opponents who called him Israel's "crime minister".

Israel's first premier to be indicted in office was ordered to appear in person at Jerusalem's District Court for opening arguments in a case where he is charged with bribery, fraud or breach of trust.

As court proceedings got underway, President Reuven Rivlin began two days of talks to determine which party leader has the best chance of forming a stable government following the March 23 election.

Israel remains mired in the worst political crisis in its 73-year history, with voters and the 120-member parliament bitterly split over whether Netanyahu deserves to extend his record tenure of 12 consecutive years.

Netanyahu's right-wing Likud party finished first in the polls almost two weeks ago, winning 30 seats, but his path to a 61-seat absolute majority is precarious. The anti-Netanyahu camp, however, lacks a clear leader, is ideologically divided and will also struggle to forge a majority coalition.

'Serious corruption'

Netanyahu, wearing a black face mask and a dark suit, sat in court as lead prosecutor Liat Ben-Ari told judges that the premier was involved in "a serious case of government corruption".

He has been charged with accepting improper gifts and seeking to trade regulatory favours with media moguls in exchange for positive coverage — allegations which he denies.

Ben-Ari said Netanyahu had "made illegitimate use of the great governmental power entrusted to him," in his dealings with media executives "in order to advance his personal affairs".

With permission from judges, Netanyahu left the courtroom before the prosecution called its first witness, the former chief executive of the Walla news site, Ilan Yeshua.

Yeshua testified that he had regularly received instructions from Netanyahu's allies to post articles favourable to the prime minister and information that smeared the premier's rivals.

"It was clear that we were a website that did what the prime minister's office asked us," Yeshua told the court. According to Yeshua's testimony, a key target of Netanyahu's alleged smear campaign was Naftali Bennett, the prime minister's estranged former protege who now leads the religious nationalist Yamina party.

That fact now spells a political problem for Netanyahu, who will likely need Bennett's support in order to form a government.

Presidential meetings

Meanwhile Rivlin, whose presidential residence was also the site of an anti-Netanyahu protest, was meeting with party officials throughout the day.

According to custom, he will give the leader with the most recommendations from individual lawmakers a 28-day window to form a government. That can be extended by 14 days at the president's discretion.

The recommendations were proceeding as expected, with Likud and the two ultra-Orthodox Jewish parties, which control 16 seats, endorsing a Netanyahu-led government. —AFP ■

Tribal clashes in Sudan's Darfur kill 18: medics

TRIBAL clashes in Sudan's restive Darfur region have killed at least 18 people and wounded 54, a local doctors' committee said Monday. "The committee recorded 18 fatalities and 54 wounded, who are receiving medical care at Al-Jeneina Teaching Hospital," the West Darfur Doctors' Committee said in a statement, citing clashes on Saturday and Sunday.

"On Monday, we woke up to the sound of gunfire... clashes are still ongoing and have spread to the western suburbs of the town (Al-Jeneina)," Abdelrahman Ahmed, an eyewitness, told AFP. —AFP ■

Over 100 dead in Indonesia, East Timor floods, dozens missing

TROPICAL cyclone Seroja pounded Indonesia and East Timor Monday after torrential rains triggered floods and landslides that have killed at least 113 people and left dozens more missing.

Packing heavy winds and rain, the storm heaped more misery on the Southeast Asian nations after Sunday's disaster turned small communities into wastelands of mud, uprooted trees and forced thousands of people into shelters.

Downpours are expected over the next day as the storm triggers offshore waves as high as six metres (20 feet), Indonesia's disaster agency said.

The cyclone, which was picking up strength as it moved towards the west coast of Australia, hampered efforts to reach trapped survivors.

At least 86 people have been killed in Indonesia, with another 71 missing, while 27 have died in East Timor, a tiny half-island nation of 1.3 million that lies between Indonesia and Australia. Its capital Dili was inundated, with the front of its presidential palace transformed into a mud pit.

Swept down a mountainside
In Indonesia's remote East Flores municipality, torrents of mud washed over homes, bridges and roads. Images from Indonesia's search and rescue agency showed workers digging up mud-covered corpses before placing them in body bags. On Lembata, an island east of Flores, parts of some villages were swept down a mountainside and carried to the shore of the ocean. Soon after flash floods began tearing into resident Basir Langoday's district in the early morning, he heard screams for help from a nearby home covered in rubble. "There were four of them inside. Three survived but the other one didn't make it," he told reporters. Langoday and his friends scrambled to try and save the trapped man before he was crushed to death. "He said 'hurry, I can't hold on any longer,'" Langoday added. Juna Witak, another Lembata resident, joined his family at a local hospital where they wept over the corpse of his mother, who was killed in a flash flood Sunday. Her body was found by the seashore.

"There was a rumbling sound and the floods swept away homes, everything," Witak said. 'Medicine, food, blankets'

The European Union said it was ready to offer assistance to poverty-stricken East Timor, officially known as Timor-Leste. "The catastrophic floods come at a time when Timor-Leste is working hard to contain the spread of Covid-19 among its population, putting a considerable additional strain both on resources and on the Timorese people," the EU said.—AFP ■

Vietnam PM Phuc picked as new president

VIETNAM'S Prime Minister Nguyen Xuan Phuc was elected Monday as the country's new president as members of the ruling Communist Party voted in the National Assembly.

Phuc took the second-highest post in the country's leadership which had been concurrently taken by top leader Nguyen Phu Trong, general secretary of the party. With the leadership of Trong, Phuc is seen to maintain a neutralist stance between the United States and China.

Trong is serving a rare third term in the top post. While the result of vote on new prime minister is not yet announced, Pham Minh Chinh, the 62-year-old head of the party's Central Organization Committee, is expected to win election.

Phuc, 66, served the nation's prime minister since 2016 after holding key government positions including vice prime minister. The prime minister is effectively the country's No. 3.

Japan, US to ink partnership deal on climate change

THE Japanese and US governments are arranging to sign a partnership deal on climate change when Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga meets with President Joe Biden later this month, diplomatic sources said Monday.

Tackling global warming is expected to be a focus of the April 16 meeting in Washington, along with affirming the strength of the Japan-US alliance and cooperation in efforts to realize a free and open Indo-Pacific amid China's growing assertiveness in the region. "I hope Japan and the United States can take the lead in tackling climate change," Suga told a parliamentary session. The meeting comes as Biden has vowed to make climate change a top priority of his administration, reversing his predecessor Donald Trump's decision to pull out of the Paris Agreement and inviting world leaders to a virtual summit on the issue on April 22-23.

Suga said he plans to unveil Japan's new target for reducing carbon emissions by 2030 soon, and that he hopes to work with Biden to push China, the world's biggest emitter of CO2, to "do its part as a global power." According to the sources, Suga and Biden are slated to agree to set up working groups to boost cooperation on climate change, COVID-19 measures and cutting-edge technologies.—Kyodo News ■

Hashida, writer of acclaimed Japanese TV drama "Oshin," dies at 95

SUGAKO Hashida, a scriptwriter known for the internationally acclaimed television drama series "Oshin" in the 1980s, died Sunday of lymphoma at her home in Atami, Shizuoka Prefecture, her foundation said Monday. She was 95.

The series, which originally aired from 1983, depicted the life of a woman who was born in a poor farming village and became the successful founder of a supermarket chain. It was broadcast in dozens of countries including China, Iran, Thailand and the United States. In Japan, Hashida also earned support from housewives with her use of dry humour to portray families. In another hit TV drama series, "Wataru Seken wa Oni Bakari," which started in 1990, she depicted very common issues in Japanese households such as the tensions between a housewife and her mother-in-law. Hashida, whose real name was Sugako Iwasaki, was born in Seoul. She became a TV drama scriptwriter after joining Shochiku Co. ## Three talking points from the Premier League

MANCHESTER City are just 11 points away from clinching a third Premier League title in four years as even a much-changed side from Pep Guardiola outclassed third-placed Leicester 2-0 at the King Power.

Behind City, Liverpool were the big winners of the weekend as they produced arguably their best performance of 2021 to thrash Arsenal 3-0 at the Emirates.

Victory for Jurgen Klopp's men, allied to dropped points for Chelsea and Tottenham, means all three are separated by just two points in the fight for a top-four finish. At the other end of the table, Fulham missed a great opportunity to move out of the bottom three as they let a 1-0 lead slip late on to lose 3-1 at Aston Villa.

Liverpool find their groove

Liverpool's chances of a return to the Champions League next season seemed all but gone when Fulham became the sixth consecutive visiting side to win at Anfield a month ago.

However, the Reds looked refreshed by a two-week layoff during the international break for many of their star players. Even Arsenal boss Mikel Arteta admitted his side were lucky to escape with only a three-goal margin of defeat as Liverpool produced a performance worthy of champions on the day they mathematically could no longer retain their title. "It was a very important statement for us because we need to show that we fight for it. We cannot only talk about it, we have to show it on the pitch," said Klopp on his side's chances of climbing back into the top four.

Chelsea's shock collapse to a 5-2 defeat with 10 men against West Brom helped Liverpool's cause to close the gap between the two sides to just two points.

Liverpool also have the better run in, but it is far from a two-horse race. Tottenham edged ahead of Liverpool on goal difference despite blowing a late lead to draw 2-2 at Newcastle.

West Ham can move fourth if they win at Wolves on Monday, while Everton have two games in hand to overturn a five-point deficit on Chelsea.

Is Kane too good to stay at Spurs?

Spurs' latest failure to hold onto a lead at St James' Park will do little to quell the speculation over Harry Kane's future.

The England captain was again in supreme form, scoring his side's two goals to move top of the Premier League scoring charts. Kane has now scored 29 goals in all competitions for Tottenham, but unless Spurs shock Man City in the League Cup final later this month, will see another season go by at club level without a trophy. City, Manchester United, Barcelona and Paris Saint-Germain have all been linked with a move for the 27-year-old in recent weeks. Tottenham chairman Daniel Levy's asking price for his prized asset may prove too high in a deflated transfer market due to the economic consequences of the coronavirus pandemic.

But Kane refused to rule out a move during the international break and will not want to spend another of his peak years without Champions League football. Fulham not 'horrible' enough A point for Newcastle also had a big impact on the bottom of the table as the Magpies moved three points clear of Fulham.

Scott Parker's men were well set to move out of the bottom three thanks to Aleksandar Mitrovic's first Premier League goal since September.

But Fulham collapsed to concede three times in the final 12 minutes at Villa Park and leave their manager bemoaning a lack of experience. "Sometimes you need to be horrible, play the game in the right territory," said Parker.

"It's a young team but we were naive and made silly mistakes. After the first goal, we dropped our intensity and it affected us too much and we weren't streetwise enough." —AFP ■

Fallen giants seek revival as Real Madrid, Liverpool battle again

LIVERPOOLS last dance with Real Madrid ended in painful defeat, with Mohamed Salah's shoulder dislocated by Sergio Ramos dragging him to the ground and goalkeeper Loris Karius left apologizing to his fans.

Yet Karius's two errors, which handed Madrid a 13th European triumph in the 2018 Champions League final, were also the start of a journey for Liverpool.

Karius was ruthlessly cast aside and Alisson Becker signed for a then world record fee for a goalkeeper.

A year later Liverpool were the ones hoisting the Champions League trophy after beating Tottenham Hotspur in Madrid. Last season, an even heavier burden was lifted when they were crowned English champions for the first time in 30 years.

But those highs have been followed by a fall from grace as Liverpool prepare to face Real again in the first leg of their Champions League quarter-final in Madrid on Tuesday.

Fortress Anfield has turned into a visitors' dream with fans absent because of the coronavirus pandemic.

After nearly four years without a home league defeat, Liverpool have lost six in a row for the first time in the club's history. Jurgen Klopp's men are in a scrap just to make it into next season's Champions League via a top-four finish in the Premier League. —AFP ■

Spieth ends title drought at Texas Open just in time for Masters

FORMER world number one Jordan Spieth ended his near four-year victory drought Sunday, gearing up for next week's Masters with a triumph at the US PGA Tour Texas Open.

Spieth, who hadn't won since capturing his third major title at the 2017 British Open at Royal Birkdale, signalled he's again a force to be reckoned with as the game's best look toward the first major championship of 2021 at Augusta National.

"This is a monumental win for me," Spieth said. "It's one that I've certainly thought about for a long time."

Spieth fired seven birdies in a six-under-par 66, holding off tenacious playing partner Charley Hoffman to win by two strokes with an 18-under-par total of 270.

Hoffman had cut Spieth's lead to one before Spieth birdied the 17th hole at TPC

San Antonio, Hoffman's own 66 putting him on 16-under 272.

Now Spieth heads to Augusta National, where he was just 21 when he won his first major title at the 2015 Masters, going on to win the US Open the same year.

After years in the wilderness the 27-year-old American had been knocking at the door, holding the 54-hole lead at both Phoenix and Pebble Beach this year. He was tied for the lead going into the final round on Sunday with England's Matt Wallace, with Hoffman two shots back.

Wallace closed with a two-under-par 70 for third place on 274.

"I actually felt really light, felt like I just wanted to come out and smile and try to have some fun," Spieth said, adding that "lightness" was something he'd struggled to find even as he contended earlier this year. —AFP ■
